
WE NOMINATE

The 143 Princetonians who this week made news of the first magnitude with the announcement of their agreement to purchase four-plus acres of land in Princeton Township (near the intersection of the Cherry Valley and Somerville Roads) for the construction of a church building, church school and recreational facilities for the Unitarian Church of Princeton. While this truly astonishing congregation, launched as a fellowship in the spring of 1949 with 20 or less members and now in its second year as a chartered church, has no plans for erecting its "plant" in the near future, its thoughtful announcement was in keeping with the ways in which it has developed as an institution strengthening the basic structure of this community.

First meeting in private homes, later in Murray-Dodge Hall on the University Campus and more recently at Avalon—the Bayard Lane headquarters of the Princeton Community Players—the Unitarian Church has moved forward so rapidly that it now has 104 children enrolled in its church school and each Sunday finds it necessary to "ferry" classes from Avalon to nearby Dorothea's House to make room in the former for the 11:00 a.m. service. And this growth has been something indigenous to Princeton, for the Unitarians have sought neither to proselytize nor to draw members from other churches. They have quietly shown others what they stand for and have provided for many a refreshingly individualistic approach to religion.

In discussing the site, once part of the farm of John Witherspoon, Princeton University's first great president and a signer of the Declaration of Independence, Peter B. Putnam (the fifth president in the church's history) emphasized that the congregation's decision to purchase semi-rural acreage followed some two years of study and planning. The building committee, successively headed by Edward W. Morehouse and Stephan R. Michael, investigated a dozen different possibilities and with the assistance of city-planners finally recommended a location that in the 21st Century could well be the "absolute center of Princeton's population" and yet would be of easy access to the entire Princeton area.

The acquisition of land now owned by Mrs. Esther A. Harrop will constitute the third memorable date in two years for a congregation which in the words of one member is concerned with building a church "on the basis of voluntary consent and agreement fully given by free men and women." It was on May 24, 1953, that the church, with a qualifying membership of 60 families, gained its present status in the American Unitarian Association and on October 16, 1953, that Straughan L. Gettier, 35-year old native of Richmond, Va., and an alumnus of the University of Richmond and the Harvard Divinity School, was called from the First Parish, West Roxbury, Mass., as first minister here.

For possessing all of the vigor traditionally associated with a young and growing organization; for joining together "for the worship of God and the service of man;" for looking forward to the day when they will be able to create a "handsome, vital unit of our community life in which all of Princeton can take satisfaction;" these Princetonians are Town Topics' nominees for Assessment Debate Looms. The Township Committee proceeded through its monthly business Monday in record time, but a night of argument along classic Township lines is in the making for Monday.

Property holders on Littlebrook, Roper and Poe Roads will gather at 8 p.m. to voice their feelings about assessments which have been levied for the improvement of those roads. The sums assessed (which had not, but following discussion, will be, revealed to the 59 property owners in advance) are known to be considerable.

Reasons for the likelihood of violent discussion were brought out in a letter to the Township Committee from the the comissioners of assessments, who termed the problem the "most difficult and time-consuming in our experience."

The commissioners, Raymond Brickley, Gordon G. Sikes and Myron E. LaVake, cited among other factors that the curving roads involved meant that large lots may have small frontage on the roadways, while smaller lots may have several times as much frontage.

Indicative of the controversial aspects of the problem, the trio offered to resign individually or as a group, should their decisions seriously embarass the Township Committee, an offer which the latter body immediately rejected.

The Township Committee also declined to take over Arreton Circle Road for the present; heard that maintenance is seriously lacking on a sewer drain adjoining a field of the Valley Road School; refunded a part of a cash surety bond to Westerly, Inc. for work done on Wilson and Pardoe Roads; and received a petition from owners of property adjacent to Laurel and Mansgrove Roads urging that the two streets be taken over, restored, paved and improved.

The committee's business took the bare (and post-war record) time of 25 minutes, but the board of health meeting consumed 45 minutes (probably a record), virtually all of it in informing the Committeemen (who are the board of health) of various aspects of the proposed plumbing code.

On invitation of Mayor Wallace, Joseph B. Redding and Norton C. Jefferson spoke on various points, emphasising the need for registering master plumbers in the municipality. Joseph W. Miller, Jr. of Culligan Soft Water Service pointed out a need in the code to allow for limited plumbing work such as that of his business. Since the specifications of the code are already being enforced, the public hearing prior to final passage was recessed pending changes as proposed.

Democrats Face Primary. For the first time within memory, the Democratic party has provided Princeton with a primary contest. In contrast to a number of years in the post-war decade, when candidates have not been named for every vacancy, three office-seekers will compete for two vacancies on the borough council.

The trio includes Dan. D. Coyle, Assistant Director of Public Information at Princeton University; J. Seymour Montgomery, an

Up and Down

New Jersey is generally experiencing a rise in gasoline prices and a decline in milk prices. The increasing gas prices are due to one cent jumps on the wholesale level, while the decline (of approximately two cents) in milk prices was achieved through a state order.

Basic economic factors lie behind both moves. New Jersey has been undergoing a widespread "price war" among filling stations, such that the trade effort to stabilize prices at a higher level may not prove effective. On the other hand, removal of a fixed milk price level has meant that the state will adjust downward for the coming Spring high production level.

What Is
"Reasonable" Saving?

People answer that question in various ways: "Save what you can spare" . . . "Ten per cent of your earnings" . . . "Twenty per cent" . . . and so on.

OUR answer is: Start with ANY amount, then gradually raise or lower it until it fits in between today's budget and tomorrow's ambitions.

The real saving secret is PERSISTENCE. Come see us this week—and keep coming every week!

attorney with offices in Princeton and New York; and Edward T. Swinnerton, a salesman for Prince Chevrolet. Named as mayoralty candidate by the party, as expected, was Raymond J. Male, administrative assistant to Governor Meyner, while Walter L. Coun is the Democratic choice for assessor.

Dr. Warren G. Findley, a member of the staff at Educational Testing Service, is the Democratic candidate for the lone vacancy that will occur on the township committee. The Democrats have also announced that they will qualify candidates by write-in votes for the offices of collector in the borough and collector and assessor in the township.

Carnival Draws Big Crowd. A near-capacity crowd attended the first Princeton Ice Carnival in three years Saturday night at Baker Rink, enjoying more than two hours of varied and colorful performances. At the end, it was difficult to say whether stilt-skating Charlie Slagle's flights over rows of boxes or the smallest fry who preferred using ankles to blades were the more appealing.

A dozen numbers, some drawing flashing spotlights on more than twoscore participants, carried the evening through to a successful conclusion. Miss Joan Dembeck, Princeton Skating club professional, staged the carnival, which was sponsored by the Skating and Rotary Clubs. Proceeds went to the latter organization's college scholarship fund for boys from the Princeton area.

The carnival was one of the highlights of a three-day affair in Baker Rink. It was staged in conjunction with the Eastern Figure Skating Championships, which drew more than 150 entrants. Competition began as early as 7:30 Friday morning and lasted until nearly midnight, continuing during the day both Saturday and Sunday.

Tractor Kills Man. A heavy tractor that toppled over when one of its rear wheels missed a ramp up which it was being driven caused death Sunday to a resident of Griggstown. The victim was 37-year old Herbert F. Lens, married and the father of three young girls.

The accident happened on the Clavence M. Updike Farm, Mercer Road, where Mr. Lens had purchased a tractor at auction the previous day. With a friend, Emanuel Martin of Franklin Park, he had returned Sunday in a flat-bodied truck in which to remove the tractor.

Township Police Chief James Campbell, Jr. reported that Mr. Lens started to drive the three-wheeled tractor up a ramp into a barn so that it might be loaded into the truck. The right rear wheel missed the ramp. Chief Campbell said, the tractor flipped over and its entire weight struck Mr. Lens on the chest.

He was rushed to Princeton Hospital in the First Aid Unit ambulance but pronounced dead on arrival. Dr. J. Leonard Berry said death was caused by a ruptured heart and crushed chest.

Lost Lady

A stranger who appeared to be totally lost was seen in the vicinity of Nassau Street and Murray Place Tuesday morning. It's a question whether man or beast was the more surprised.

The latter was a large doe deer, whose course took her across Nassau Street, down Murray Place and then in the direction of University Field. She was seen by John P. Sylvester of Princeton Continental Motors, who estimates that the four-legged tourist may have weighed close to 200 pounds.

It's New to Us

New Vehicle. A landau is, of course, a type of carriage, but do not be misled into believing that Landau's on Witherspoon is a new automobile agency. Landau's Department Store, 25 Witherspoon, is the successor to Wolman's, and Mr. Landau will open his door for business this Friday, March 18.

One of the store's biggest stocks in trade will be domestics: a rainbow of bath towels by Cannon, including those wonderful giant bath sheets that measure four by six feet, bed sheets in white or pastels, pillow cases, blankets, shower curtains, mattress covers, blanket covers — all the soft goods that every housewife relies on as she relies on bread and potatoes.

In this category, incidentally, we found some cheerful new summer bedspreads made of seersucker sprigged with rose or blue rosebuds and selling for $4.98. There are seersucker blanket covers, too, for $2.98 and more elegantly ruffled ones for $4.98.

Another section of Landau's is devoted to a large selection of underwear, hosiery and lingerie for men, women and children. For women there is Kayser, for men there is the B-V-D, and the variety in women's lingerie includes such fabrics as batiste, seersucker and rayon, shortie and regular gowns, tailored pajamas and all styles in rayon undergarments.

New lines will continue to come in, of course, because Mr. Landau plans to make his new store as complete as space will allow. On the cotton dress racks, for instance, there will be dresses at $2.98 and $3.98 in regular, half and extra sizes. His policy is one of complete guaranty of satisfaction with a refund if you wish.

Separate Yet Together. This ambiguous state is always the rule at Bert-Ann, 188 Nassau, where separate blouses and skirts have been going together for years. Here in the spring of '55 is a striking Moygashel linen that might be called "The Little Nut Tree".

On a white background, rows of life size black walnuts, English walnut halves, acorns and goodness knows what else, have been blocked in shades of charcoal making. An original print, and a handsome one. Skirt ($14.95) is straight with pockets, blouse is sleeveless and collarless, piped with grey.

To mix and match there is a solid grey skirt and blouse with round collar. This print and the solids that can go with it, may also be had in brown and white instead of charcoal.

A rayon cotton pongee that takes well to a tub has Japanese lanterns hung on its background. Unpressed pleats characterize the skirt. Blouse is sleeveless, price is $8.95 for the two. Sailing blue denim makes a gored skirt with white stitching down each gore, a middy blouse, and to keep them both company, a camisole halter and Bermuda shorts.

Dazzling white sharkskin makes a magnificent summer outfit: Bermudas, gored skirt ($10.95) and sleeveless blouse ($8.95). Can't you just see it with a tan?

A Madras-like rayon makes Bermuda shorts that harmonize with a sleeveless collared blouse in bottle green or dark teal blue. Egyptian pima cotton has been used in a skirt that has horizontal pin tucks around the skirt band, and at the yoke of the matching shirt. Unpressed pleats provide the usual fulness.

Daffodils and Asparagus. The bulb stocked most frequently by super-markets is the onion, and we were mildly surprised, therefore, to see daffodils blooming in Davidson's Market (172 Nassau). These come, not from a fall

Foundations have been laid for a large office building on Alexander Street to be occupied by the D. Van Nostrand Publishing Co. Many of the firm's editorial employees and administrative staff will come here from New York to occupy the twostory structure.

Some 25,000 square feet of space will be provided in the building, which is opposite the Princeton Inn and is of Georgian design to conform with the Inn's architecture. The Van Nostrand Company, which prints text and technical books, is expected to take occupancy in the early fall.

Panel on Safety. The Council of Community Services has completed plans for a panel discussion on "What Safety Measures Are Taken in Our Community." The meeting, open to the public, will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Nassau Street School auditorium.

Dr. Nathan Kasrel, chairman of the safety committee for the council and borough schools, will serve as moderator. The panel will consist of Chester R. Strout, Assistant Superintendent of Borough Schools; Paul R. Chesebro, Borough Magistrate; Russell Riker, Borough Engineer; Carl Bohn, representing the fire department; Lieutenant Frank Bird of the Borough police department and representatives of the Township police force and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

A question and answer period will follow the panel discussion. Anyone wishing to submit questions may do so from the floor or to Dr. Kasrel, 130 Nassau Street, prior to the meeting.

Panel on Scholarships. A panel discussion designed to acquaint the public with the program of the American Field Service in bringing foreign students to study in this country will be held Wednesday night at 8 in Woodrow Wilson Hall on Washington Road. The panel will consist of three students from other lands now studying here, as well as residents of Princeton who have spent summers abroad under AFS sponsorship.

Samuel G. Frantz, chairman of the Princeton Committee of the American Field Service, will preside Wednesday night. The three foreign students taking part will be Inge Birkholm of Denmark, now at Miss Fine's School; Hugo Aurelio Caputo of Sicily, now enrolled at Princeton High School; and Timothy Benn, a freshman at Princeton University from England.

Stephen Galatti, director general of AFS Field Scholarships, will be a speaker Wednesday night. The public is invited to attend, and to partake of refreshments at the end of the evening.

Court Action. Failure to obey "Stop" signs, lack of proper registration for vehicles and speeding brought fines to a dozen motorists in the Borough this week.

Caddy Club to Open

The first meeting of the Princeton Caddy Club, whose members are trained to serve at the Springdale Golf Club, will be held Wednesday at 7:15 p.m. at the John Street YMCA. Sponsored by the Golf Club and the "Y," the project will again be supervised by Kenneth Hawthorne, a member of both organizations.

Wednesday's program calls for a talk on the "Do's and Don'ts of Good Caddying" by Harry Kinnell, Springdale professional; as well as a football film of Princeton's 1954 season, with line coach Richard Colman as commentator, and refreshments. The "Y" has announced that membership in the club is open to all boys "of good character from 13 to 20 in the Princeton area."

Fines of $1 were assessed against seven persons for going through "stop" signs. They were John W. Doane, 56 Charlton Street; Peter G. Cook, Kingston; James W. Smith, 104 Henry Hall; George Rowley, 128 Bayard Lane; Mrs. Mary G. Nelson, 498 Stockton Street; Mrs. Isabella Osgood, 92 Stockton Street, and Thomas W. Wright, 36 North Stanworth.

Miss Julie D. Winslow, Pretty Brook Road; Donald Lyndan, 343 Foulke Hall, and William Axton, Cranbury, were fined for driving unregistered vehicles. Louis Elek, 44 Park Place, was fined $7 for speeding.

Mason Resigns as Magistrate. Ralph S. Mason of Littlebrook Road, a new member of the Township Committee, has resigned as magistrate of Rocky Hill.

Mr. Mason, in a letter to the mayor and council of Rocky Hill, related that an inquiry to the state supreme court resulted in the opinion that he could not hold the two offices, although they were in different counties. The ruling is based on the code of judiciary ethics which precludes a judge from engaging in partisan politics. A successor will be named shortly.

Van Zandt Honored. J. Percy Van Zandt of Blawenburg, a member of the Montgomery Township Board of Education for the past 33 years, was honored at a dinner last week marking his retirement from the board.

The Rev. James I. Cook, pastor of the Blawenburg Reformed Church and toastmaster at the dinner, pointed out that Mr. Van Zandt has served throughout the education of two generations of Montgomery residents and has been instrumental in helping build and remodel all three of the township's schools. He concluded his service by assisting in the awarding of the contract for the community's new school.

The dinner was highlighted by an address by Dr. Frederick M. Raubinger, State Commissioner of Education. Norman Hoagland, president of the board of education, presented Mr. Van Zandt with a hand-decorated plaque commemorating his long service to the community.

Red Cross Drive Advances. Arthur Wengel, chairman of the 1955 Red Cross drive in this area, has announced that the campaign has gone well over the half-way mark toward its goal of $38,945.

Professor Walter C. Johnson, chairman of the residential canvassing; Raymond A. Bowers, chairman of special gifts, and James McFadden, chairman of the business division have reported a total of $21,942 collected.

The annual drive, which began on "Red Cross Sunday," March 6, is being conducted with an organization of five division leaders, 39 captains and 466 district canvassers. Mr. Wengel has asked all who have not yet been approached to send their contributions to Red Cross headquarters on University Place.

The chapter has also announced that there has been a joint meeting of the Disaster Preparedness and Relief Committee, headed by E. C. Stuhlahn, and members of the Princeton Civil Defense Council, chaired by Colonel F. J. Darke, Jr., to work out a cooperative program of disaster preparedness. Robert Heim, Red Cross Field Representative from the National Headquarters, was guest speaker.

Hun Students Thanked. A gift of medicine from the students of The Hun School helped save a life in Africa, according to a letter received by the pupils from Dr. Albert Schweitzer. In a letter written in French and bound with surgeon's sutures, Dr. Schweitzer expressed his "thanks from the heart" for the gift of the new drug, Steclin, to his hospital for lepers in French Equatorial Africa.

After the death of Dr. Erna Fankhauser, a teacher at The Hun School, in an automobile accident last November, the student body raised a $50 memorial fund for her. Because of the interest Mrs. Fankhauser had in her friend Dr. Schweitzer's work, the school's Student Council decided to contribute the money to him.

The E. R. Squibb and Sons pharmaceutical firm added a donation of $450 to the fund and packaged $300 worth of the new antibiotic, Steclin, for the hospital in Lambarene, French Equatorial Africa. The gift was transmitted through Dr. Albert Einstein, a mutual friend of Dr. Schweitzer and Dr. Fankhauser.

In a note penned in French at the end of a letter from Emma Hausknecht, a member of his hospital staff, Dr. Schweitzer said, "You touched my heart in giving me this proof of sympathy in your grief for the deceased." He stated that the drug was used immediately in a "serious case with evident success."

Mrs. Chapin Elects. G. Vietor Davis was chosen president of the Mrs. Chapin's School board of trustees at the annual meeting of the board. Other officers elected were Mrs. Dudley Clark, vice-president; Mrs. Coleman Donaldson, secretary; and Clarence Rodefeld, treasurer.

Mrs. Hugh Hoffman, James West and John Winant were the new members elected to the board. Mrs. Chapin's School is a non-profit corporation, owned and operated by the parents, who enjoy automatic membership in the corporation by virtue of their children's enrollment.

Mrs. Elizabeth Travers, head mistress, reported that the acquisition of the enlarged facilities at "Snowden," the former residence of Bernard Kilgore on Snowden Lane, has enabled the school to expand its enrollment from 45 to 71 pupils. This figure includes a new pre-kindergarten group in addition to the normal elementary grades of the past.

Mrs. Travers emphasized, however, that the school contemplated no departure from its traditional policy of a maximum of attention for individual students as now expressed in the teacher-pupil ratio of one to seven. Emphasis at Mrs. Chapin's is placed on a balanced curriculum of recreation and the three R's, especially reading, which Mrs. Travers calls "the fundamental skill of nearly all education from the primary to the graduate school level."

Troop 56 Holds Parents Night. Twenty-nine new Tenderfoot Scouts of St. Paul's Troop 56 were awarded their badges by Stony Brook District Commissioner Arthur Jensen in a candlelight ceremony during Parents Night last week. Scoutmaster John Procaccino presented first class awards to Senior Patrol Leaders Robert Coria and David Patterson, a second class scout badge to Kenneth Lippman and service stars to 14 older scouts.

Troop Committee Chairman Charles Rendale and Neighborhood Commissioner Dalton Pritchard discussed scouting principles and organization at the meeting, followed by movies showing various scouting activities. Members of the troop committee acted as a Court of Honor for the presentation of awards.

Those who received the Tenderfoot awards include Robert Chasen, Gordon Cupples, Richard Traegler, Edward Swinerton, Charles Foley, David Foley, Alfred Pietrinferno, David Cromwell, George Otway, Joseph Sullivan, James Sassman, Kenneth Wible, Chris Baker, Joseph Perna, James Esposito, James Clsney, Thomas Cocoran, William Cocoran, Martin Lombardo, Charles Johnston, Charles Gutbrodt, James Macauley, Brian McNally, Robert Bock, Francis Maddalon, John Raubitschek, Joseph Fansanelis, Frank Pietrinferno and James Pietrinferno.

Two Cubs Promoted. Gordon Lutz and Roger Slayback, members of Cub Scout Pack 77, were awarded their Webelos badges and certificates of graduation into Boy Scouting at the monthly meeting of the pack at the Valley Road School. Both boys were also given Boy Scout neckerchiefs by the pack.

Cubmaster Gustav Eisenmann also presented a shoulder braid to Second Class Boy Scout Tom Johnson for service as Den Chief of Cub Den 5 during the year. A committee of Den Dads supervised a series of games and competitions to end the meeting.

League Schedules Luncheon. The League of Women Voters of Princeton is planning a Legislative Luncheon to be held Tuesday from 12 to 8 at the Princeton Inn. Dr. William S. Carpenter, Director of the Division of Legislative Information and Research of the Law Revision and Legislative Services, will describe the work of this new group as the principal speaker.

Aid for Mentally Retarded. The Board of Education of the Borough has announced that it will sponsor a program of instruction for mentally-retarded children, beginning in September.

More Homes In Prospect. Rumors circulating through the community in recent weeks that a score of additional homes are likely to be built on Franklin Road were confirmed this week by word that plans are being readied for submission to the planning board on proposed creation of 21 residential lots on the farm of E. O. Kling.

Mr. Kling will ask municipal approval for a division of ten acres of his 540-acre farm. The property involved (lying on the road which connects Lawrenceville with the Brunswick Pike) is in Residence Zone A-1.

Plans call for a minimum lot size of approximately 20,000 square feet (120 by 167) and a maximum of approximately 24,000 square feet. Prospective new streets conform to the township's master plan. Mr. Kling reports that the area will be built by individuals rather than a developer.

Red Cross Report Due. The Lawrenceville branch of the Red Cross is awaiting final reports on the canvassing now being completed to meet its $2,200 goal for the national campaign. The drive is scheduled to end this weekend, according to William A. French, chairman of the branch and this year chairman of the fund drive.

Solicitation is being carried on in the community through ten district organizations. Captains this year are Dudley E. Woodbridge, Mrs. C. H. Steelman Jr., Mrs. James H. Smith, Mrs. Charles J. Wittkop Jr., Mrs. W. C. Meyer, Mrs. Frank K. Heyniger, Mrs. William A. French, Mrs. Donald A. Fruland, Mrs. Alice B. Sailey and Robert E. Adams.

No Primary Contests. The slates of candidates for office in November as reported here last week were not changed by last-minute petition filing, with the result that there will be no primary contests in the township.

Kenneth M. Huber, lone Republican incumbent, will seek a second term on the Township Committee, opposed by Democrat Owen Healey, current chairman of the planning board. In the race for tax collector, Mrs. Nellie Buxton, Democrat, will seek to extend her month-old appointment in the office to a full term, while Republican Mrs. Dorothy Pilla, a clerk in the collector's office for a decade, will oppose her.

The intra-office contest for the tax collector post holds interest not only on its own merits, but also on the fact that the winner can only be a woman—who will join the ranks of a municipal government that relies heavily on the so-called "distaff side." Still to be obtained by the ladies is a post on the Township Committee, but they now hold the following offices:

Mrs. Della I. Nash, township clerk; Mrs. Mary Coffee, court clerk; Mrs. Florence Rogers, welfare director; Mrs. Mary Smith, township nurse; Mrs. Margaret Von Strein Sterzl, township auditor.

Mrs. Buxton is the tax collector, and her office is completed by Mrs. Pilla and Mrs. Gwendolyn Miller. In addition, Mrs. Marie Loveless, Mrs. Emma Williamson, Mrs. Regina Janukowicz and Mrs. Katheryn Schwartz perform regular uniformed guard work at school crossings for the police department.

Girl Scout Easter Parade. Members of Lawrenceville Girl Scout Troop No. 38 are completing arrangements for a fashion show to be presented on Saturday, April 12.

The "Easter Parade" will be held from 7:30 to 8:30 in the evening in the Youth Center of the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church on Main Street. There will be no admission charge and friends and families are invited to attend.

Newsletter. The Westminster Fellowship of the Presbyterian Church will run a bake sale this Saturday morning from 8:30 until noon in front of The Jigger Shop . . . the church's Women's Association circles meet next Thursday . . . "The Lawrence" won a first-place award in the Columbia University Press Association competition for private school newspapers . . . News from all of the community's organizations will be welcomed by this column on a regular basis . . . watch for disposable tank propane gas cooking stoves and lanterns to catch on here among the outdoor set . . . Lawrenceville School remains on vacation until April 3.

The Scouting Exposition involving local youngsters takes place a week from Saturday (March 26) at the Trenton Armory. Sessions will be 2:30 to 5:30 and 7 to 9, and local scouters are competing for prizes on the basis of ticket sales . . . Church, obituary and birth notices for Lawrenians are carried in the regular columns of TOWN TOPICS . . . Plans are being completed for the annual Easter Egg Hunt scheduled by Lawrence Township Post No. 414, American Legion, for Saturday, April 9. Arrangements for the dedication of the post home in May are under way, with Joseph Mahan, chairman of the building committee, in charge.

The observance of the 118th birthday of the former president will be highlighted by the laying of a wreath on behalf of President Eisenhower by Lt. Col. Claude H. Purkitt, professor of military science at the University. An honor guard of 30, led by Archibald Alexander Jr., '55 son of the state treasurer, will participate.

Antiques in Burlington. The Burlington County YWCA Antique Mart, which annually attracts statewide attendance by the "antique-minded," opens Wednesday in the National Guard Armory in Burlington. The show runs from noon to 10 p.m. and continues on Thursday and Friday.

Dealers from several states will sell antique furniture, glass, china, lamps, prints, rugs and collectors' books. A booth will feature early furniture "in the rough," with free advice by experts on how to refinish it. Further information on the show may be obtained in Princeton from Mrs. William Babcock and Mrs. James K. Quay.

Remedial Reading Studied. The faculty of Valley Road School has completed the first semester of an In-Service Teacher Training Program on Remedial Reading. The program, given under the direction of Dr. Mildred Moss, remedial reading specialist, is sponsored by the Princeton Township Board of Education.

The remedial reading study is designed to help the teacher better understand, analyze and diagnose reading difficulties in order to organize the classroom into reading activities of benefit to individual pupils. The second semester will deal further with classroom reading groups with special emphasis upon techniques of individual case studies.

The teachers have met with Dr. Moss on Monday afternoons after regular dismissal and have discussed causes of reading failure; the field of testing as it applies to individual and group reading; vision difficulties in reading and approaches to remedial organization on the classroom level. A former instructor at Rutgers University, Dr. Moss has done clinical work in the Visual Reading Clinic in Trenton and in New Brunswick and is principal in Raritan Township.

YWCA to Offer Swim Session. Beginning Monday, March 28, any Princeton girl who is over 42 inches tall to the chin and who can pass a health examination required of all YWCA swimmers will be permitted to swim at the Trenton YW each Monday afternoon from 4 to 5 p.m. This ses-

Music in Princeton

Off-Beat by Brubeck. Crrrraazy after-beats and augmented 15th chords were flying fast and thick Tuesday night when Dave Brubeck's Quartet hit us hepsters at McCarter Theatre. Not only was each number improvised in the off-beat Brubeck style, but the program arrangement seemed to be improvised. Real casual, man.

There was supposed to be one intermission but three occurred. Moondog, the prophet-like originator of Snake Time, was supposed to perform but failed to show. Suddenly, like an O'Henry story ending, "the unexpected happened," and Moondog arrived to beat out a variety of 5/4 and 7/4 meters with one hand, while his other hand chimed in with jivey syncopes. But what really sent us cats were his remarks, apropos of nothing, about Persian etymology.

The Johnny Eaton Quartet made a solid impression on us bopsters with its version of Dancing on the Ceiling, When Eaton Comes Marching Home Again, The Nearness of You, and Somewhere Over the Rainbow. Eaton's combo has drive, unleased energy and original intros and endings. The group really moves, but needs a little more coolidity.

For the height of cooldidity though, man, dig Brubeck. With polytonality at his right hand, syncopation at his left, Stravinsky, Milhaud and Bach in his noodle and a tune somewhere off in the dim horizon, Brubeck sends man, he sends. Paul Desmond on the sax plays counterpuntal embroideries lifted out of Johann Sebopian Bach. Bob Bates on the bass plucks out an appropriate Bates line. And Joe Dodge whacks out a square 4/4 beat like it was the only beat ever invented.

The only thing the combo lacked was more counterpuntal and rhythmic interplay between the musicians. But don't get me wrong, bop-men, when it comes to Brubeck's I'll Never Smile Again, Brother Can You Spare a Dime, Jeepers Creepers, Don't Worry About Me, and The Trolley Song—well, get us the first ticket to Cloud No. 7. We're gone, man, gone!

DOES IT PAY TO BUY A USED CAR?

. . . it is not easy to buy a used car. You find yourself looking over automobiles, all cleaned and polished, but with innards of unknowable condition and speedometers with altered mileage counts.

Is this a good time to buy?

. . . prices of used cars have come down to a reasonable level in relation to those of new cars.

Used-car prices tend to rise steadily from now on through July, stay about level during the summer, drop in early fall and strike rock bottom during the winter.

How old a car should I buy?

Maintenance and service costs increase with age, of course, but after the second year of a car's life, combined maintenance and depreciation costs are not so high as they are during the first two years.

Which price bracket offers the most for the money? Expensive new cars drop in value faster than most of the cheaper ones. So don't rule out the big ones when you buy a secondhand car; look them over and you may find a bargain.

Where should I buy? Prices are a little lower when you buy from a dealer who seels only seconded cars, but you run less risk when you buy from a new-car dealer's trade-in lot. He has service facilities, and he probably hopes that the next time you come in you will be a customer for one of his new models.

How can I pick a car that is mechanically sound? If you buy a car that has been abused, your costs will skyrocket—you buy the repair bills that the former owner didn't want to pay. But here are four rules that will help you avoid being taken in:

1. Never believe what the speedometer says.

2. Always test-drive a car before buying.

3. With our unconditional guarantee we believe you can eliminate this one, but you are welcome to do it.

4. Get the be t written guarantee you can.

Keeping these things in mind, you will be able to take most of the risk out of buying a used car.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Hit the Deck (Mar. 16-19) features a group of bouncy performers in a lively CinemaScope and color musical loaded with some of Vincent Youman's best songs. The plot is thin but the overall effect entertaining. Jane Powell, Tony Martin, Debbie Reynolds, Walter Pidgeon, Vic Damone, Gene Raymond, Ann Miller and others do the honors.

Jupiter's Darling (Mar. 20-21-22) gives history a rare ride. The script writers had a marvelous time setting up an Esther Williams-Howard Keel musical with some Hannibal-crosses-the-Alps material. Played for laughs and the spectacular, strictly, with Keel as Hannibal, if you will, and Miss Williams as the betrothed of Roman dictator George Sanders. The dancing team of Marge and Gower Champion fit in as Roman scouts, or something, and the musical interludes are just as sensible. CinemaScope and color.

Untamed (Mar. 23-26) is a big outdoor action picture, western style, but set in South Africa. Tyrone Power is establishing the Dutch Free State, while Susan Hayward's fortunes rise and fall regularly as she follows various romantic pursuits. The plot is close to wretched, but there is a good deal of scenic location photography in CinamaScope and Color.

THE GARDEN

Panic in the Streets (Mar. 17 only) is a re-issue, having been widely acclaimed as a strong drama when first presented. The stars are Richard Widmark, Paul Douglas, Barbara Bel Geddes and Zero Mostel.

New Faces (Mar. 18-19) is in a return engagement here. Filmed in CinemaScope and Technicolor with hardly a change from its original stage form, the revue has a lot to offer in the way of entertainment for a smart audience. Ertha Kitt, Robert Clary and Ronnie Graham are featured. Playing with "New Faces" will be the CinemaScope short "Roger Wagner Chorale," also requested for a repeat performance.

The Queen of Spades (Mar. 21-23) is a 1952 British offering, filled with mood and atmosphere. The film is set in St. Petersburg of 1806, where a gambling fever has spread and the card of the title is regarded with particular awe. Dame Edith Evans and Ronald Howard are among the players. Not reviewed at press time.

White Feather (Mar. 24-26) is a CinemaScope and Technicolor western of standard design, offering once again the decline of the noble Indian, in this case the noble Cheyenne. Robert Wagner, John Lund, Debra Paget and Jeffrey Hunter participate in the various struggles and romances.

Film Forum a Sellout. More than a score of would-be subscribers were unable to join the Princeton Film Forum for its opening series of five programs because of space limitations. Future series are now in the planning stage.

The second program of the Forum will be shown this Monday and will include Jean Renoir's "The Southerner" starring Zachary Scott and Betty Field, and a short Canadian film, "The Photographer."

PRINCETON TELEVISION

"Men, Environment and Architecture" will be the subject of this Sunday's "Princeton '55" television program (1:00 p.m., WRCA-TV, Channel 4). It will be presented by Aladar and Victor Olgyay, lecturers and research associates in the school of architecture.

Designers of the Hungarian exhibit at the New York City World's Fair, as well as many structures and town planning programs in Budapest, Vienna, Izmir and Turkey, the twin brothers will describe the relationship between men and climate, both friendly and adverse. They will show four examples of regional architectural expression.

Professor Hubert N. Alyea brought his near-vaudeville variety of showmanship to the series in talking on atomic power Sunday. His explosive presentation was amusing as always, and a delightful way of considering serious scientific subject matter.

It's certain that his rapid-fire talk brought home the effects of atomic power to many a viewer, and if they realized the implications, Dr. Alyea's shift from showman to spokesman for effective international order should not have seemed abrupt. Dr. Alyea's many and varied "props" were a great asset, but he furnished them and NBC just managed to mess up the camera work occasionally.

Music Notes. The Vassar Glee Club, the Princeton University Glee Club and the Princeton University Orchestra will present a joint concert this Saturday evening, March 19, at 8:30 in McCarter Theatre. The concert will be open to the public without charge.

The concert will be in honor of the forthcoming 80th birthday of Paul Bedford '97, founder and honorary chairman of the Friends of Music at Princeton and one of the prime movers in the establishment of the University's music department.

The three groups will participate in selections from three operas: Purcell's "Dido and Aeneas;" Rameau's "Castor et Pollux," and Gluck's "Iphigenie en Tuaride." The orchestra will also play the overture to Gluck's "Iphigenie en Aulis."

John Peirce will conduct the Vassar Glee Club, while Dr. Carl Weinrich will direct the Princeton singing group and Nicholas Harsanyi the orchestra. Soloists will include Elizabeth Connor, Lorilee Burkhardt '55 and Anna Green '55, sopranos; Raymond Fitzsimmons '55, tenor; Charles Gray '56 and Mr. Peirce, baritones.

Final Series II Concert. The New Music Quartet, with Leonid Hambro at the piano, will give the concluding concert of Series II of the 1954-55 University Concerts this coming Tuesday, March 22, at 8:30 p.m. in McCarter Theatre. Tickets are now on sale at the University Store and may be obtained at the door the evening of the concert.

The group of artists, all well-known as soloists, first came together in 1949. The members are Broadus Earle and Matthew Raimondi, violins; Walter Trampler, viola, and David Soyer, cello.

The New Music Quartet has won a reputation as one of the outstanding chamber music ensembles now performing. Its nation-wide tour last year included 55 concerts. The group has been invited to return next summer as the quartet in residence at the Aspen Festival in Colorado, and has played a number of times in the chamber music series of the Library of Congress.

The concert will open with Mozart's Piano Quartet in G minor, K. 478, followed by Beethoven's Quartet in F minor, Opus 95. After the intermission the group will play Brahm's Quintet for Piano and Strings in F minor, Opus 34.

A review of Tuesday evening's modern jazz concert by Dave Brubeck appears on page 10.

Sports in Princeton

NCAA Participation Questioned. To the many honors that Princeton's basketball team gained in its long, uphill battle for the Ivy League title comes one statistical distinction unmatched throughout the country. Without doubt, the Tigers are the only team that barely topped the .500 mark in their season's record and still were good enough to win a conference championship.

When they trounced Columbia at New Brunswick, 86-69, last week to win the playoff and the Ivy crown, their record mounted to 13-10, highest it had been all season. Because of the six-game losing streak that was absorbed after the opening split with Lafayette and Rutgers, it was not until late February that Princeton even drew abreast of .500 again.

Automatic qualification for the NCAA District II finals at the Palestra followed victory in the Ivy League. Losses to La Salle (73-46) and Villanova (64-57) were the virtually inevitable result, setting the final mark at 13-12.

Had not the team been playing its fifth and sixth games in a week and a half, it might have made a better showing, possibly even have topped Villanova in the consolation round. The fact remains that not since World War II has an Ivy entry won in the championship bracket in NCAA basketball.

If the league, for good and sound reasons, is going to establish a totally different set of eligibility and academic standards for its players than most of the other colleges in the U. S., it should never approve automatic qualification in the post-season tournament for its over-matched representatives. If an Ivy entry completes something like a 20 and 4 season, in addition to winning the championship in its own league, it should probably be an NCAA entrant by selection. Automatic qualification, however, does the eight-member circuit nothing but harm.

It was to some degree, of course, understandable inability to maintain in the Palestra the pace that it had set in its climactic league games, particularly against Penn and Columbia. The performance against the Lions, for example, was probably the best in Princeton's modern basketball history, the 86 points the Tigers scored topping by 40 the highest previous number in any of eight previous playoffs, where tension is so great.

Twice the Orange and Black had to come from behind, no easy assignment on a strange court with pressure riding on every shot. The Tigers were on the short end of a 12-4 count as quickly as three minutes after the game began, but three successive baskets by agile John Easton helped bring them even in short order. They went on to achieve a whistle-producing 59% floor average and build up a 46-38 half-time margin.

It was a good lead, but as it had at New York a week earlier, it faded under a rally staged by the able Columbia quintet, Paced by Chet Forte, the 5-9 sharpshooter who replaced Bud Hanbastad as the league's individual scoring leader, and center Frank Thomas, the Lions tossed in 17 points in the first seven minutes while holding Princeton to nine. That gave them a 55-52 advantage and put the issue squarely up to the Orange and Black.

A Matter of Choice

A Princeton octogenarian called her married daughter last week to announce that her television set was out of order and that she must have it fixed that day without fail. Knowing that "Peter Pan" was on that night at 7:30, her daughter made hurried arrangements, gaining assurance from a television repair service that the matter would be handled in time.

Shortly before 7 o'clock, the set was back in operation. Said the daughter with a sigh of relief: "Now you can be sure of seeing 'Peter Pan.'" Her 80-year-old mother replied happily: "'Peter Pan,' bosh! I wouldn't miss that Ivy League basketball doubleheader for anything!"

RECORD-BREAKER: Captain Bud Haabestad of Princeton's Ivy League champions takes five all-time Nassau records with him. He is high man for one game, (33); for one Ivy season, 287; for three years in the league, 706; for one complete season, 500; and for three years, 1,292. The first player in Princeton history to top 1,000 points, he made the All-League team as a junior and seems certain to repeat this season. He is also high in the running for most valuable player honors.

The surge it produced is totally unduplicated in Ivy League playoff history, which as recently as last year had seen Princeton and Cornell move cautiously through a 46-44 encounter marked by one freeze that lasted nearly three full minutes. From 7:05, when they trailed by three, until 17:18, when Don Davidson's driving layup gave them an 82-61 advantage, the white hot Princeonians racked up a gaudy array of plain and fancy shots that accounted for 30 points. Defensively, they held the losers scoreless from the floor for 11 minutes, limiting their output to six free throws from the foul line.

Intriguingly, the Tigers never were in first place alone until they had beaten Columbia in the playoff. They had ranged from fourth to second throughout the campaign, oddly enough dropping back to third the night they ran Penn off the court, 65-47. Columbia defeated Brown that same evening and tied the Quakers for first place; when the Tigers trimmed the Providence quintet the following Monday, they were in a triple tie for first place only as long as it took Columbia to oust Penn, 73-71.

Individual players' shooting performances against Columbia were eye-filling: Haabestad was the only starter under 50% (10 out of 22) but he connected for 28 points. Dick Batt was three for four; Easton five of nine; Davidson seven of 11 and John DeVoe eight of 15.

Like the "Iron Men" of 1950 (Bernie Adams, Mike Kearns, Walt Armstrong, George Sella and Joe Holman), this quintet played all the way, almost never getting a substitute unless one of its members drew five fouls or the game was won beyond doubt. Its stretch drive (12 of the last 15 until the NCAA contests) was achieved after it had lost seven of the first eight games it had played, ability to achieve such a form reversal ranking as a tremendous tribute to the coaching ability of Cappy Cappon.

PHS Eliminated in Tourney. Princeton High School's basketball team failed to make up for an early 11-point deficit and was eliminated last week from the NJSIAA tournament by South River, 75-59, in the New Brunswick High School gym.

Taking an 11-0 lead with only three minutes of the game elapsed, the South River squad never relinquished its advantage. Don Bruhn and John Walker paced the victors with 23 and 22 markers respectively, while two more teammates also scored in double figures.

planting of daffodil bulbs, but from somebody's cutting garden and you may buy them at 25c a dozen.

Gladiolas are 98c for a dozen, and there are tulips and snapdragons too, but the price-tag was hidden by the daffodils. Later, Davidson's will have Easter plants in pots.

Asparagus in March? Look at the precocious stalks in the Davidson produce department, and give the family a treat for Sunday dinner. Baby watermelons, like smooth green cantaloups, are 59c each.

We explored the dietetic at Davidson's and discovered something called D-Zerta that's like jello only without calories apparently. Stedasalt keeps you sodium free, but full of ammonium chloride, citric acid, calcium formate, allanium tartrate, choline, monocalcium phosphate and starch. Ask them to pass THAT one next time you have dinner. Also on the dietetic shelf: peanut butter without salt, prepared cake and waffle mixes, banana cookies, and all kinds of jellies and candy. See how painless to keep thin and healthy?

Tisket A-Tasket. The Flower Basket at 136 Nassau, has its owner, Mrs. Florence Hillier, back with her skillful hand at floral arrangements, and her thoughtful advice on gift buying. During her stay in Washington Mrs. Hillier ran a floral shop in Spring Valley, Maryland, thereby keeping her thumb green against her return to her Princeton shop.

A little candle trough comes to this shop from Egypt: it consists of three brass candle-holders in a seven-inch scoop of enameled copper. The pale turquoise enamel has been lightly washed over the copper to let the metal show through. Short brass curves tipped with brass balls provide a standard. From Iran comes a series of pewter-washed copper sconces, vases and planters ranging upward from $3.50.

Rattan place mats are woven in one-inch strands, their color a mellow, natural tone with a strong cast of olive green. Other fiber mats look like matchstick bamboo shades—they are natural in hue without the olive cast.

A brass wall sconce in the modern manner is made of a sheet of brass, concaved to provide shelter and reflection for the candle, then bent back again to make contact with the wall. Height is 16 inches, price $7.50. Baskets from the Flower Basket include a two-foot long planter to hold your geranium pots. It costs $3.50. Small individual casseroles are made of glass and set down inside basket holders made in Madeira.

It happened last week at Bailey's . . . Most all of us like a bargain, but few of us know a good buy. Only after the purchase do they realize the terrific buy they have made at Bailey's.

We really knock ourselves out to bring you the best buy in nice things to wear. A famous Atlanta, Georgia, store went out of business, sold its goods to a New York buyer who divided the stock and we bought part of it.

Here are some of the items on sale: Van Raalte nylon panties of the finest quality, advertised at $3.50 a pair, yours for only $1.98; famous make nursing bra, regularly $2.50, yours for only $1.59. Loads of half size dresses, 14½ to 22½, all sold at $16.95, on sale at $5.98 to $9.85.

Your worries are over if you thought of buying a beautiful Easter Suit—sizes 10 to 20—you will find suits that sell for $55.00 to $79.00 all on sale at $39.50. Do come in and look these over.

Another lot of those wonderful $29.95 dresses, sizes 8 to 18, are still on sale at $14.95 and $16.95. Get a refresher—it's good for you and you will enjoy the things around you more. Get something new at prices you can afford at

The dozen representatives of Asian nations who this weekend become Princetonians for a period of three days, work round the clock in discussing their countries' problems and aspirations on a "people to-people" basis and thereby launch an unprecedented seven-week tour of the United States. Arriving Friday noon and departing Monday, these distinguished statesmen, educators, editors and lawyers will be making their initial public appearence in the Western Hemisphere and in the space of 48 hours will participate in four different conferences, will meet for the first time with the American press and will provide guest speakers for six Princeton churches, including the Second Presbyterian Church, the Unitarian Church and several young people's fellowships.

The Asia Mission—the first undertaking of its kind—is being underwritten by American business firms, educational foundations, individuals and The Town Hall of New York. It comes here under the joint sponsorship of Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School and the Special Program in Near Eastern Studies for the express purpose of meeting with New Jersey high school teachers, secondary school students, college undergraduates and those ranking scholars concerned with current developments in the Near, Middle and Far Easts. All in all, the weekend will present unique opportunities for Asians and Americans to exchange information at a time when the need for such mutual understanding is critical.

Unlike the majority of visitors from overseas, the members of the Town Hall Mission have been drawn from the mainstreams of life in Egypt, India, Indonesia, Iraq, Japan, Jordan, Pakistan, the Philippines, South Vietnam, Syria, Thailand and Turkey. For instance, Japan's George Togasaki publishes "The Nippon Times," Japan's leading English-language newspaper and presides over the Rotary Club of Tokyo. Roberto Villanueva is general manager of the "Manila Chronicle" and directs Manila's Junior Chamber of Commerce and Cai Thai Bao, Commissioner of Political and Administrative Affairs in South Vietnam, is an active Rotarian in Saigon and is most interested in describing the steps being taken by Asia's youngest government in building free institutions in the shadows of imperialistic communism.

Little-heard women's views will be aired by the representatives of Egypt, Pakistan and Thailand. Mrs. Amina El-Said, frequently referred to as the "First Lady in Arab Journalism," serves as chief editor of Egypt's most popular women's magazine. Pakistan's spokeswoman is Princess Abida Sultan, formerly heir apparent to the throne of a Central Indian state and a member of her country's delegation to the United Nations, while Miss Nilawarn Pintong, who stresses that the only answer to the threat of communism is improving the conditions of the people of Thailand, edits "Satri Sarn," a magazine in Bangkok with the largest circulation of any periodical in Thailand.

For seeking to bring their countries closer to the hearts of the American people, for giving Princetonians opportunities to create new vistas of every-day life on a continent in a state of turbulent transition; for promoting the concept of neighborliness which could well be the keystone of American policy in the world of today; these eminent visitors are Town Topics' nominees for Here's Wonderful News, Especially for Parents!

A new vaccine for polio will be available in this store some time next month. Developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk, it is the culmination of a campaign against this long-feared disease that has been attended by more interest on the part of the public than probably any comparable preparation in history.

No shortage of this new vaccine is expected. Once available, it may be ordered on the advice of your family physician. It is being released under guidance of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and will be known as the Salk Polio Vaccine.

In the science of healing, the pharmacist has long been the partner of the physician and the research scientist. We are deeply gratified that we shall soon be permitted to join in the achievement of an historic advance in modern medicine.

For Better Comic Books. Public opinion that has long been passively against objectionable comic books is being translated into a campaign to eliminate the sale of those considered harmful to the children of the community. This week, a group of parents and representatives of all major public, private and parochial schools in Princeton were supporting the drive, which has been launched with a public information campaign designed to place only approved comic books in the hands of their young public.

Principal foundation for the undertaking is the code drafted for the Comics Magazine Association of America. The code seeks to prohibit such treatment as a glamorous approach to crime or the explicit decription of methods of crime; the use of brutality, horror and lust; the presence of profane or obscene dialogue; ridicule of religion; indecent costumes, suggestive and salacious illustrations; and illicit sex relations.

APPROVED BY THE COMICS CODE AUTHORITY

The campaign to remove objectionable comics from Princeton stores was initiated at a meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Baker of Hartley Avenue. Those present as representatives of various schools in Princeton included Mrs. William K. Evans, Mrs. Louis Pensak, Mrs. Robert W. Sinkler, Mrs. Edward F. D'Arms and Mrs. Raoul Vajk.

Others who have indicated that they stand behind the aims of the Comics Code Authority are Mrs. Thomas L. Brophy, Mrs. Hadley

ETS to Add 10 Nassau?

Although no official word was available this week, Educational Testing Service is expected to announce shortly the fact that it will expand its operations into the 10 Nassau Street location formerly occupied by Banman's.

ETS has grown steadily since its start, with corresponding increases in its office space requirements. Existing space at its 20 Nassau Street headquarters is now more than completely occupied. The anticipated move by ETS will mark the final end to a half-century of grocery operations by Banman's at 10 Nassau.

Princetonians launching the campaign have asked for support of Judge Charles F. Murphy, former New York magistrate, who heads the Comics Code Authority and in this capacity is working toward the elimination of objectionable matter from the books. A copy of the code and other literature may be obtained by addressing a postcard to the Comics Code Authority, 41 East 42d Street, New York, N. Y.

The Authority's primary task is to examine and approve, if possible, the comic books being released by various publishing houses. When possible, they work with the publishers to eliminate material considered objectionable. To all comics in which the Authority's rules and regulations have been met, a seal is issued and a replica (about a third of the size of that reproduced here) is imprinted in the upper right corner.

The Authority and those working in support of its program have urged parents to look for this seal:
